

Subzone Definition

The CMAP regional model's zones are structured around census tracts and blocks, as well as geography, physical barriers and township section and quarter-section boundaries. The zones do not represent accurately access onto major thoroughfares in the subareas. Zone split requirements were reviewed based on matching network and zone detail in the project model with the intended detail of description to be used in project analysis, and refining zones to create more homogeneity of land use and development types within each zone. Zone splitting was done after reviewing the land use in a zone using Google Earth and other aerial photos. The new zones were always subsets of the CMAP traffic analysis zone (TAZ) and were assigned sequential numbers higher than the highest CMAP TAZ Centroid number (range of 1892-2433). The number of households and employment in the CMAP TAZ was split between the new zones as described in Section 2.2 of the Technical Report. The original zone number was always retained for one of the new split zones. On the edges of the project area, zones were added to provide a buffer to ensure reasonable distribution among the roadways entering and exiting the modeled EO-WB subarea.

It is important to note that during the alternative evaluation process, the study area was expanded to include an additional 16 CMAP TAZ west of the previously defined boundary due to observed travel impacts due to the Elgin O'Hare corridor. The additional zones were not split any further and was maintained as-is based on CMAP zone boundary definition.

Table A-1 lists the CMAP traffic analysis zones (TAZ) numbers and the split TAZ details. Table A-2 lists the CMAP TAZ Centroid Numbers, Split EO-WB subzone centroid numbers, centroid connection, and the total number of centroid connections.
